

Seattle Climate Action Now Partner Agreement

Seattle Climate Action Now is a campaign to inspire Seattle residents to take actions that reduce climate pollution. The campaign is led by the City of Seattle and jointly implemented with an enthusiastic network of community-based organizations and businesses.

The Seattle Climate Action Now campaign provides:

- A Seattle-specific menu of low-cost, high-priority action steps that every resident can take to address climate change immediately
- Professionally developed communications resources and design templates
- A comprehensive Seattle Climate Action Now web portal that includes: carbon footprinting and action planning tools, a robust community events calendar, links to resources, action incentives, partner sites and engagement opportunities
- Community-wide action events focused on climate solutions like home energy efficiency and transportation efficiency.

Seattle Climate Action Now organizational partners agree to:

- Promote the messages and actions of the campaign to members, constituents, customers, neighbors, and/or employees via their events, newsletters, email lists, employee communications, promotions, etc.
- Supply the campaign with current information about the organization’s climate-related engagement opportunities, grant the campaign permission to co-promote these activities via the campaign web portal, press events, other media and participate in community-wide climate action events.
